

Asahi Print

CMATHS is using as part of our curriculum the Soroban Text books supplied by Asahi print. Asahi Print supplies all Sensei's in Japan these same textbooks. This way we know that our standard is exactly the same as required by the Japan Soroban Foundation.

Unshudo 雲州堂 since 1897

Unshudo is a Soroban Manufacturer and Supplier. Unshudo was founded during the Early Meiji era in 1897 in Osaka. Today their offices are still based in Osaka. They manufacture high quality plastic Soroban.

Daiichi-J

Banshu(Onu) is a town small town outside Tokyo. You can visit the Soroban Museum there and definitely make time to meet the Daiichi family. They have a Soroban Village shop where children can build their own Soroban. All shape, sizes and colours. Mr. Daiichi will gladly take you on a tour through his Soroban workshop where craftsman make beautiful wooden Soroban by hand. Their cash register is a Soroban!

This is a must for all visitors!

We plan to take our Japan Soroban Camp 2015 Team to visit Daiichi-J's Soroban workshop.
